
glassgold@earthlink.net

1 message

WikiTree <noreply@wikitree.com>

Fri, Jul 30, 2021 at 12:35 PM

Reply-To: Peter Glassgold <glassgold@earthlink.net>

To: Dwight Childers <dwight@columbia.edu>

The following was sent via the private messaging system on WikiTree.com.

Adolph (a.k.a. Cook) was my uncle. His mother's name was Ida (Rothenberg). She died shortly after he was born, and his father, Samuel, married Ida's youngest sister, Minnie. Cook had three siblings: an older sister, Jay (later married to Willie Dorfman, a violinist), and two younger brothers by Samuel's second wife, George (my father) and Bernhard, both of them lawyers. His cousin Ida Prigozy (married last name, Gershoy) sometimes referred to Cook as her brother. (See Paul Avrich, Anarchist Voice, Princeton U.P., 1995.) You can check out my own credentials on my website, www.peterglassgold.com.

The sender, Peter Glassgold (glassgold@earthlink.net), was not logged-in to WikiTree. If the message looks like bulk e-mail spam, please forward it to info@wikitree.com right away.

The sender was on this profile page when they sent the message: <https://www.WikiTree.com/wiki/Hurwitz-130>

If Peter Glassgold is a family member add them to WikiTree. If they're a friend or fellow genealogist add them as an unrelated person.